Align Your Faith
With Veganism

All Life is Sacred

We find the ultimate inner peace when we realize the sacredness of all life and practice compassion toward all living beings. World healing and liberation comes from this deep spiritual practice. You can encourage people of faith, spiritual leaders, and places of worship to widen their circles of compassion by including non-human animals.

Veganize Your Spiritual Community

Want to veganize your place of worship? Join the Interfaith Vegan Coalition, a team of religious and spiritual vegans who are dedicated to bringing vegan values to people of faith. You will receive animal liberation materials, resources, and support to show spiritual leaders and people of faith how their religions mandate harmlessness to animals. Your place of worship will receive concrete tools, achievable goals, and public recognition as they bring their scriptural & heart-centered values of love and compassion into alignment with their daily actions, worship practices, holiday rituals, prayers, and community activities.

To join the coalition and attend quarterly online meetings, email us at interfaith@idausa.org.

Sign the Declaration

The Interfaith Vegan Coalition declares that all life is sacred and interconnected. Our mission is to work with people of all faith and secular wisdom traditions to end human-caused violence, domination, and exploitation toward all beings. Finding that most traditions, at their core, encourage nonviolence, loving-kindness, and harmlessness toward all life, the Interfaith Vegan Coalition will assist these traditions to bring their ideals to fruition. This includes promoting vegan living, which makes it possible for all beings to thrive and be free.
